AGAINST A TRANSIT PLAN,

THE METROPOLITAN COMPANY DEFEATED. TWO DECISIONS OF THE SUPREME COURT GENERAL TERM AGAINST AN ELEVATED ROAD IN BROAD

A decision was rendered by the General Term of the Supreme Court yesterday reversing the order made by Justice Donohue, at Special Term, appointing com-missioners to determine the amount of compensation to be paid to the city for the use of the streets proposed to be traversed by the Metropoilaa Transit Company's railroad. The application of the company for the appointment of commissioners of appraisal is denied. Justice Macember, who wrote the opinion. tays it was an error to exclude evidence showing that the company is not in a condition to complete its road after already waiting fifteen years before doing any-after already waiting fifteen years before doing any-thing. He continues:

Good faith is an essential element in granting a petition of this character. Otherwise the courts would be lending themselves to more speculative projects of gentlemen who, having ascertained by inquiry through a commission what money they must expend for right of way, may thus be stabled to sell such rights or negotiate the stock and admitting.

The Judge declares that for the error in rejecting the testimony referred to the order must be reversed. He gives other reasons why, in his judgment, the petition should not have been granted, saying that if they are correct they will do away with the necessity new trial. He says further:

Of a new trial. He says further:

It cannot be permitted to the petitioner under the guise of constructing a railway under its original charter to occupy portions of the streets in the City of New-York for which, by the Constitution of the State, it is required first to obtain the consent of a majority in value of the property-owners and the consent also of the authorities of the city. He declares that the failure to do this is a violation

He declares that the failure to do this is a violation of the amendment to the Constitution passed in 1874 prohibiting the construction or operation of a street railroad in this city except on this condition. In his opinion an attemptihas been made to evade this constitutional prohibition. He goes on:

The right to complete the railway permitted by the act of 1872 carpot, under the act of 1881, he enlarged so as to give in effect to this corporation a right to lay its tracks where it did not possess that right prior to the constitutional prohibition.

n of the streets covered by the maps of the petitioner deemed a branch of the main line which it was authorized to construct.

In the suit in which Robert Goelet and others sought In the suit in which Robert Goelet and others sought an injunction to restrain the Metropolitan Transit Company from building an elevated railroad in Broadway and other branches, alleging that the road would be a nuisance, and especially complaining of the branch in connection with the Grand Central Station, a demurrer to the complaint was interposed at Special Term of the Supreme Court. It was based on the grounds of misjoinder of parties and of insufficiency of facts stated to constitute a cause of action. An appeal was taken from a decision sustaining the demurrer, and the General Term yesterday reversed this judgment with costs and overruled the demurrer with leave to the company to answer on payment of costs. It was claimed by the plaintiffs that the company never constructed its main line as required by law, and that it had practically abandoned it and had no means to carry on the work.

THE THIRD AVENUE ROAD MUST PAY. TWO BIG JUDGMENTS AGAINST IT AFFIRMED-THE

CABLE QUESTION. A decision was handed down yesterday by the General Term of the Supreme Court, Presiding Justice Van Brunt writing the opinion, affirming the judgment in two suits brought by the city against the Third Avenue Kaliroad Company, for 840,724 45 and 842,917 57 respectively, for the license fee for cars run on the road. Justice Macomber, in a dissenting nion, holds that there was no ordinance in existence the time of the egreement imposing the license fee in 1852 with reference to car licenses, and therefore the parties acted upon a mutual mistake, and the judgment should therefore be reversed and a new trial tice Patterson had no substantial legal grounds for granting a mandamus directing Commissioner of Public Norks John Newton to give the Third Avenue Rail-Works John Newton to give the Third Avenue Rallroad Company a written permit to make excavations on its route for the purpose of substituting cable traction for horse power. Presiding Justice Van Brint, who wrote the opinion of the Appellate Court, says that a cable road along the line of the company

"was not at all contemplated by the terms of the grant," and that "the provision in the agreement that no steam power was to be used on any part of the road for propelling cars seems also to be equally fatal to the claims of the rallroad company." He declares that if by cable power steam is not used to all intents and purposes, "then no cars on any steam rallroad are propelled by steam."

A SET BACK FOR THE ARCADE ROAD.

A GET-BACK FOR THE ARCADE ROAD.

A decision was handed down by the General Term of Supreme Court restering reversing the decision of the setal Term, which sustained the demurrer interposed by Arcade Railroad Company in the suit brought against the Arcade Railroad Company in the suit brought against it time the new memorial wild w in the chancel, dedicated and while the active demand of the few previous days to the four pastors and many communicants of the church was not sustained at the advance, there was a healthy road. A mural movement, which indicates a revival of life. to be four pastors and many communicants of the church road. The opinion was written by Justice Daniels, who holds that the plaintiffs are entitled to enjoin the company from constructing the road, because, as was admitted in the demurrer, it had no financial means to begin the construction. He declares that the defendant company has no right to proceed until it can prove that it has means. The company, however, he adds, may answer the complaint, if it can prove its financial condition to be adequate to the

BITS CLEGAL NEWS.

The will of Albert G. Goodall, who was president of the American Bank Note Company up to the time of his death a year ago, by which he left all his property to his four children, Lillie, Ida, Edwin and Albert, is contested by his wife, Emma Goodall. Testimony was taken yes-terlay before Porte V. Kansom, assistant to the Surrogate, to the effect that he was unduly influenced by his children and that his mind was incapacitated.

The General Term of the Court of Common Pleas has reaffirmed the order reversed by the City Court, General Term, denying Mrs. Emily Guion's motion for a new trial of her suit against H. B. Wellman, the matrimonial agent, for $50, on a contract to procure ner a husband.

The business failures throughout the country the past week, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co. of the Mercantile Agency, were 163 in the United States and 26 in Canada, a total of 189, against 209 last week and 180 in the corresponding week last year. In their weekly review of trade, Messra Dun & Co. say in regard to the business situation: "In spite of the abounding and un-conquerable vitality of the country, periods of temporary hesitation, or reaction, are inevitable, and one has apparently been reached. The country at present is borrowing more and producing less. The local market for securities depends essentially upon the placing of bonds abroad and the foreign demand for stocks, and both continue. But for the movement of foreign capital this way, to pay for bonds and stocks, a heavy outgo of gold would be required to meet the excess of imports over exports. Success in borrowing foreign money to imports makes the markets for securities strong, and money here is superabundant. But, meanwhile, collections at an increasing number of points in the inerior are slow; the caution of buyers checks production in important industries, and crop prospects are not flat-tering. For the time, the tendency is toward a decrease in production." WERE YOUNG WORMSER'S CHECKS THROWN OUT!

The published statement that Maurice Wormser was again in trouble about money matters and that his checks had been repudiated by the banking firm of L & S. Wormer, could not be positively confirmed yesterday. The young man's father and uncle refused to discuss what they insisted was a purely provate affair, but intimated sted was a purely private affair, but intimated friend of the family said that the publication of the rumors was cruel and unjust. He did not deey that Maurice was cruel and unjust. He did not dray that shaurce Wormser had recently lost money at play and that his father had refused to pay the drafts, but he added with much bitterness: "If all these things are true, whose business is it outside of the few persons immediately interested? The amount will probably not exceed $2,500, and if the father refused to pay it he undoubtedly acted for the best good of the boy. The suggestions that Maurice was involved in any way with Mrs. Scoffeld have no foundation although he might have been willing to furnish the money for her release. It is not denied that she has conmoney for her release. It is not denied that she has con-siderable balances to her credit both with W. T. Hatch

MAURICE B. FLYNN FAILS TO APPEAR.

The Commissioners of Accounts waited in vain for Maurice B. Flynn yesterday, and office boys scoured the town for him to no avail. At last a vague and unsatisfactory message came that he hadn't returned to town yet, or couldn't possibly situad just then. An able-bodied and active man with a subpoena was still looking for fickle Maurice B. last evening, and in all likelihood he will appear before the Commissioners at 10 a. m. to-day, charged to the muzzle with new and interesting information about City Chamberlain William Macchiavelli Ivins.

MRS. SCOPIELD DISCHARGED.

JUSTICE LAWRENCE DECIDES THAT SHE WAS ILLE-

GALLY HELD-IS FERRIS'S BOND GOOD ? The last the public saw of Mrs. Lillian E. Scoffeld yesterday was when she got into a cab in front of the Supreme Court Building and was whirled down Broadway in the direction of Mr. Ferris's office. She had just been released from dustody and was ex-tremely happy, no doubt. In the afternoon a motley crowd of curiosity seekers pushed into one of the Supreme Court rooms, where Judge Lawrence was to hear, at 3 o'clock, an application for her discharge, near, as 3 octoon, an application for her discharge, through her lawyer, DeLancey Nicoll. Mr. Nicoll asked for her discharge on the ground that she was held in the House of Detention on suspicion of committing a crime, and further that the form of the commitment, as made out by the Coroner, was incorrect. He also held that the commitment was illegal. Mr. Lindsley, for the District Attorney's office, said that the District Attorney agreed that the woman had been illegally detained and on that, without looking further into the case, Judge Lawrence announced that Mrs.

Scofield was discharged.

During Mr. Nicoll's brief argument she had been sitting by the side of the keeper of the House of Detention, extremely pale and apparently greatly excited. Unless further testimony is presented which may appear to connect the woman more closely with the death of Mr. Hatch, she will be let alone as far as the Coroner's office is concerned. But the Grand Jury is yet to be satisfied that she was not instrumental in causing the death.

Another chapter of her alleged history came to the coroner yesterday, in a letter from San Francisco, written in a woman's hand.

The coroner also got another letter signed by Charles S. Van Loon, who said that M. K. Mills. Charles S. Van Loon, who said that M. K. Mills, who became surely for Ferris, did not own the houses Nos. 279 and 281 West Seventy-first-st. The letter was sworn to before a notary, G. W. Stevens, and was written by Thomas C. Enevers, a lawyer, at No. 132 Nassaust. The letter states that Julia C. Van Loon, Charles S. Van Loon, George C. Capron and Andrew Mills own a quarter interest each in the property, which is in litigation. The Coroner sent for Mills and his attorney, Jerome Buck, and there was to be a hearing at 3 p. m., but the lawyers had an important reference case at that hour and asked to be excused until today. This was granted. Coroner Levy said that if the case was to be gone over again he would surely hold the woman as before.

Eldridge, the president of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, against James Judge, a waiter, was heard by Justice Duffy at Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday morning. Mr. Eldridge substantially made the same statement as has already been published. the same statement as has already been published.

Mr Eldridge admitted that after he had ordered Judge to make room he pushed him aside.
Justice Duffy held Judge in $1.000 bail. The prisoner by advice of his counsel, would not say anything at the present stage of the case.

Corporation Counsel Beckman sent an opinion to the Board of Street Openings yesterday to the effect that in opening streets more than a mile in length half the expense legally falls upon the city. Dividing the street into sections and giving such sections different names would be an evasion of the law.

The Board discussed the widening and extension of Elm-st., and Mayor Hewitt said that he had waited patiently to see what the Legislature would do about "As it has done nothing," he added, "I propose that we dispose of the matter at once. There seems to be no objection to the widening and extension of Elm-st, while there is great opposition to the extension of Centre-st." It was agreed that a disposition of the case should be made at the next meeting.

A STRANGE KIND OF JOLLIFICATION.

About 8 a. m. yesterday people in Petersville, about three miles from the village of New-Rochelle, N. Y., were awakened by loud curses and shouts as of a numbe of men in angry altercation. The sounds came from the of men in angry altercation. The sounds came from the quarters of about fifty Italians, railroad laborers, who live in a rough board shanty near the railroad track.
Little notice was taken of the disturbance by the neighbors, as such things are of frequent occurrence. In the early morning, however, the body of a man about fifty years of age, apparently an gitalian, was found lying on the track about three hundred feet toward Mamareneck, from the shanty of the Italian laborers. The face was smashed past recognition. One log was severed at the knee, the other at the ankle, one hand was missing and the other grasped a stone. The Italians at the shanty disclaimed all knowledge of the man, denying that he was one of them, and that they had a row in their shanty the night before. They said that the supposed row was but a jollification. Who the dead man is no one knows.

Mayor Hewitt received a letter on May 2, in which a complaint of illegal liquor selling was made against Edward Bessinger, a saloon keeper, of No. 220 Sixth-ave. The writer signed his name as D. Lemden, of No. 24 West Ninth-st. The letter was sent to Superintendent Murray, with orders to investigate, by the Mayor. detective secured evidence, and Bessinger was arraigned at Jefferson Market Police Court, and the case adjourned until yesterday, to enable the letter writer to appear. Lemden presented himself before Justice Duffy yesterday, and stated that the letter was correct. Bessinger was held in $100 ball for trial, which was furnished.

A SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST HIM.

A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Martin B. Devitt, of No. 96 Mercer-st., Jersey City, who is charged by Miss Lizzle Knapp, of York-st., with having betrayed her under promise of marriage. Devitt is twenty-two years old and the young woman nineteen. It is said that he has been willing to keep his promise, but his parents, who are strict Roman Catholics, objected be-cause Miss Knapp is a Protestant. From the petroleum field the news continues bullish, the three Fergus wells (Nos. 8, 9 and 10) yielding only 56 barrels an hour, against 62 barrels on Thursday and 86 barrels on last Saturday, while Fergus No. 1 was off from 25 to 22 barrels, and Fergus No. 2 from 10 to 8 barrels, and McBurney No. 2 was flowing at the rate of 32 barrels an hour, against 55 barrels on Thursday and 75 barrels when it was first brought in. The man is a fraud, as sanitary inspectors vaccinate children free of charge. It is suspected that he uses some useless paste instead of real vaccine virus.

There is a better tone in the crude speculation, attending expectations of an immediate "been" are not extravagant, and the trade is getting accustomed to reactions that always must attend a speculative market. Operators are more willing to buy on the "soft spots" than they were a week or so ago, and solders appear to have lost timidity at occasional set-backs. The market was dull in the late dealings, and prices sagged off to the lowes:

Ayer's Sarsaparilla:

"I was troubled with discoloration of the skin, which showed itself in ugly dark patches. No external treatment did more than temporary good. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure."

T. W. Boddy, River st., Lowell, Mass.

"No medicine yould be better hadped to cleansing the blood of such impurities as manifest inhemselves on the skin by pimples, sand she was constantly amonyed by their appearance. Three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla I was cured."—Chas. H. Smith, North Craftsbury, Vt.

A young lady of Dover, N. H., writes that for a number of years her face was covered with pimples, and she was constantly amonyed by their appearance. Three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla rendered her skin perfectly clear.

"I can heartily recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla for all of those who are suffering from scrofulous humors. I was afflicted for years, and tried every available remedy, with no effect. Then your Sarsaparilla was recommended, and two bottles of this medicine afforded great relief. I am now in a healthy and two bottles of this medicine afforded great relief.
